

Outlet Inventory

Use the table below to note what is plugged into each outlet in your home. Use a consistent way to number each outlet for future reference. For example, enter the room, turn to your left and label the first outlet you come to as "Outlet 1" then next "Outlet 2" and so on.

Once you've completed the inventory for your entire home take a look to see if there are places where you could add a power strip. Using a power strip makes it super easy to turn off multiple electricity users when you leave the house for the day or when you head out on vacation.
